

This plan would be another nail in the coffin for amateur radio and drive more people away from amateur radio which is not what we need. We need to be more modern and update our ideas and either test all modes or none. This plan has no benefit to amateur radio.